

2025 Rotary Botanical Gardens Garden Speaker Series Gardening Small—Julie Hill, UW Extension Rock County

We are thrilled to introduce our Garden Speaker Series, an exciting monthly opportunity for garden enthusiasts of all levels to learn from seasoned experts in the world of gardening. Whether you're a beginner looking to cultivate your green thumb or an experienced gardener seeking fresh insights, each session will feature a garden master sharing valuable tips, techniques, and inspiration. From sustainable gardening practices to creative landscape design, this series offers a wealth of knowledge to help you grow your passion and transform your outdoor space. Join us each month and connect with fellow garden lovers while learning from the best in the field!

Gardening Small

Growing veggies and flowers seems out of the question when space is precious, especially in a small yard, no yard, or a patio/balcony. Keeping in mind the basics of plant health, we will explore ways that you can maximize the space you do have. We'll review a variety of methods such as container, square foot, vertical gardening and hydroponics.
